

RADIOWORLD: The Sound Of Static

By

Dylan Finkbeiner & Vincent Tirri

Over black, we see text that shows "SUBJECT:A / DAY 15" and a glitched text of "INITIATE"

INT. BEDROOM - MORNING

The sound of a relentless alarm reveals an old vintage style RADIO sitting on a table, placed in a barren bedroom with a hospital-looking BED. The radio's static gets cut off and calls out:

RADIO (V.O.)
Wake up and report to your workplace.

We then see DANIEL waking up from the alarm, frantically. Rushing, he bolts out of bed. He is in a nice white dress shirt and black dress pants with a belt. He puts on his black dress shoes as he rises and reaches for his glasses across from the bed, as he is ready for work.

Before he leaves, DANIEL, remembers his LANYARD, and goes back to grab it, as it is sitting on top of his RADIO.

The LANYARD, which he puts around his neck, reads 'SUBJECT:A' and below that title, one out of three tick marks, each symbolized as a circle with an X inside, occupy the ID, with a barcode on the bottom.

EXT. OFFICE BUILDING DOORWAY - MORNING

Coming from different directions, Daniel, who is almost running, and a second character GABRIELA, walking calmly, meet outside of an office building. She is seen wearing similar clothing. They seem to be heading to work, entering their office building and not acknowledging or talking to each other while entering, in almost an awkward fashion. As they walk inside and down the hallway, DANIEL turns off to the ELEVATOR. As he turns away, GABRIELA is seen giving DANIEL a quick stare, glancing at him before she continues walking.

When the ELEVATOR opens, DANIEL walks in as the doors close. As he walks in, he presses the button for the second floor and familiarizes himself with the space, listening to the elevator music and patiently waiting. He then familiarly notices a sign that states the rules of the space, placed on the wall:

"RULES: 1 - NO TALKING. 2 - REMAIN ON TASK. 3 - STAY TUNED IN."

DANIEL looks down at his lanyard and the one tick mark, annoyed and slightly worried, as he recognizes it was caused by a broken rule. The elevator then reaches the second floor and he gets off.

Walking down the hallway, DANIEL follows the routine and makes his way to his office space.

INT. OFFICE SPACE - DAY

DANIEL enters his office and sits down at his respective desk looking distracted and anxious. On his desk, there is a STACK OF PAPERS, to which he finds no interest in completing.

The RADIO sees that DANIEL is distracted and not looking at his work and calls out.

RADIO (V.O.)

Warning: Adhere to your workspace.

Annoyingly but loyally, DANIEL picks up the stack of papers and starts to read it, circling different numbers on the paper as part of his work. After a few seconds of work, DANIEL loses interest in listening to the radio and crumbles up the paper, throwing it in the TRASH, before walking out the door.

INT. HALLWAY - AFTERNOON

The RADIO announces a two-minute break from DANIEL's office space.

RADIO (V.O.)

You have two minutes to return to your workspace.

As DANIEL leaves his office space for a break, he walks down the hallway. Walking down the corner, he sets his path to the men's bathroom to his right. Before he enters the bathroom, he looks behind him and notices the same girl, GABRIELLA, turning a corner with a FOLDER in her hand. He hesitates to follow, but gives into his temptations and slowly follows behind.

GABRIELLA continues to walk down the hallway and notices that he is following her. She reacts to this by slightly looking behind her for a quick second. DANIEL, following her from behind, watches her as she opens the door to a mysterious room, checking in by looking in the room and closing the door afterward. She then walks away from the door and continues walking through the hallway.

DANIEL, seeing that she is out of sight, gets closer to the door which she just closed and carefully enters it, while also looking back to make sure he is alone.

INT. BROADCAST ROOM - AFTERNOON

DANIEL instantly starts to find himself in a new environment, looking around closely as he closes the door behind him. He sees countless computers, controls, electronics, and equipment surrounding him. He scans the room and runs his fingers along the equipment.

He then notices a TELEVISION in front of him, glitching and worn out. It pictures his BED, sitting in emptiness, showing that he is being constantly watched. He steps back in horror and sees a large board full of switches under the screen. Frantically, DANIEL runs his hand over it trying to comprehend what he's seeing. As he searches for more and presses more buttons, a RED LIGHT illuminates the entire room, with a blaring alarm sound and a message from the RADIO, causing DANIEL to step back in fear.

RADIO (V.O.)
WARNING, WARNING, WARNING, EXIT THE FACILITY!

He looks down at his LANYARD, it has a second tick mark, two out of the three. Now panicking, he rips his LANYARD off, throwing it to the ground, and fanatically searches for a way to make the alarm stop. The static starts getting louder, the message keeps repeating, the red is not going away. As he tracks down the room frantically, he finds the wire plugged into the board and traces it down to an outlet. With the radio sounding one more warning he pulls the plug out of the wall.

CUT TO: The radio in Daniel's bedroom is turning off and shutting down. The static plays for a second and is then cut off.

RADIO (V.O.)
This experiment is now over.

INT. OFFICE DESK - DAY

On the desk, we see the same FOLDER from the hallway, opened up to reveal a picture of DANIEL on a paper holding up a sign that reads "SUBJECT : A". It is then revealed that GABRIELLA is the one at the desk. She takes out his same ID and gets a pencil. She starts to draw the final tick mark and crosses out his face.

GABRIELLA

I'm sorry.

She gets a new paper ID and puts it on the lanyard. This time reading "SUBJECT: B". At the same GABRIELLA looks to her right and she calls out:

She then closes the folder, pushing it aside, and throws the old paper ID into the TRASH.
